Various views of the conference room, which is in reality a university classroom lecture hall.

Various views of the building from outside, and of the internal courtyard.

Figure 1: Garbasso building, Department of Physics & Astronomy, University of Firenze. It is located down the Arcetri hill from the Observatory, at Largo Enrico Fermi, 2, rather than Largo E. Fermi, 5. The middle image in the lower panels is the entryway to the lecture room (not really so dark, but the photograph shows little contrast).
